Little Snowdrop

The world may never notice
If a snowdrop doesn't bloom
Or even pause to wonder
If the petals fall too soon.
But every life that ever forms
Or ever comes to be
Touches the world in some small way
For all eternity.

The ones I still long for
Were here and then were gone
But the love that was then planted
Is a light that still shines on.
And though our hearts are empty
Our hearts know what to do,
Every beating of our hearts
Say of our love for you.

Our 2020 Memory Ceremony Song

Dedicated to your loved ones

All of Me – John Legend

sung by Cornwall Rock Choir

Poem from Charlton Farm Care Team

You can shed tears that they are gone
Or you can smile because they have lived.
You can close your eyes and pray that they will come back
Or you can open your eyes and see all that they have left.
Your heart can be empty because you can't see them
Or you can be full of the love that you shared.
You can turn your back on tomorrow and live yesterday
Or you can be happy for tomorrow because of yesterday.
You can remember them and only that they are gone
Or you can cherish their memory and let it live on.
You can cry and close your mind, be empty and turn your back Or you can do what they would want: smile, open your eyes, love and go on.

A reading from Little Bridge House Care Team

We all live together, and those of us who love and know, live so most.
We help each other – even unconsciously, each in our own effort, we lighten the effort of others, we contribute to the sum of success, make it possible for others to live. Sorrow comes in great waves – no one can know that better than you – but it rolls over us, and though it may almost smother us it leaves us on the spot, and we know that if it is strong we are stronger, inasmuch as it passes and we remain.
It wears us, uses us, but we wear it and use it in return; and it is blind, whereas we after a manner see. (Henry James)
